You've probably seen enough from us by now to know what's happening in Detroit. So rather than give you another list of reasons to attend, here's the question:

What's stopping you?

If you're within driving distance of Detroit, one of the biggest barriers to attending has already disappeared.

No expensive flight. No airport. No complicated travel plans. And this year, there's plenty worth making the drive for.

Car Dealership Guy helped shape the content and speaker lineup, bringing a dealer-first perspective to the issues changing automotive retail right now.

And we're going beyond traditional conference sessions. Bring your laptop and put AI to work in the AI Hackathon. Catch Car Dealership Guy's Daily Dealer Live Show live from the show floor.

That's just a taste of what's waiting in Detroit.

You're close. Digital Dealer is three weeks away.

Maybe it's time to turn "I might go" into "I'm going."
